This is a screenshot of the ICGC VISSIR v3.26 web application interface. The interface includes a navigation bar at the top with a search bar, a language selector (Castellano/English), and a toolbar with various map controls. The main map area displays the same topographic map as shown in the previous image, with a red arrow pointing to a specific location. The left sidebar contains a legend with various map layers and a search bar. The bottom of the interface features a footer with a disclaimer and a green 'Acceptar' button.
